Liz has been so busy doing Extra Fine Nib Ink Reviews that she's lost track of which reviews are which. Help her identify which inks are scheduled for the next five reviews, including the best and worst feature of each ink. (In case you're wondering, the Monteverde ink is from their new "Seven Deadly Sins" series, and the Organics Studio ink is from their new "Monster Series".)

1. The permanent ink review is two places before Robert Oster Smoke & Mirrors.

2. The ink that clogs, the first review, and the shimmering ink are all different reviews.

3. The fifth review is either the ink that's two wet or the Glow-in-the-Dark ink.

4. The smudging ink is the next review after the not lubricated ink.

5. The clogging ink is not the third review.

6. Colorverse Fire Phasers is the next review after the non-lubricated ink.

7. The sheener is not the ink that's too wet (surprising, right?).

8. The clogging ink is not Noodler's N-95 (another surprise, no?).

9. The fading ink is two reviews after the permanent ink.

10. The too wet ink review will come sometime after the non-lubricated ink's review.

11. Of the fourth review and the review of Organics Studio Orc Blood, one is a shimmering ink and the other is too wet.

		Ink					Best					Worst
		Colorverse Fire Phsers	Monteverde Envy	Noodler's N-95	Organics Studio Orc Blood	Robert Oster Smoke & Mirrors	Glow-in-the-Dark	Permanent	Shades	Sheens	Shimmering	Clogs	Fades	Not Lubricated	Smudges	Too Wet
Sequence	First
	Second
	Third
	Fourth
	Fifth
Worst	Clogs
	Fades
	Not Lubricated
	Smudges
	Too Wet
Best	Glow-in-the-Dark
	Permanent
	Shades
	Sheens
	Shimmering

Sequence	Ink	Best Feature	Worst Feature
First
Second
Third
Fourth
Fifth

[Just so you know, the matching of inks to best and worst qualities is random, so don't expect it to make logical sense.]